"This study conducted a bibliometric analysis for the knowledge domain of intercultural competence by using 663 research articles on ICC spanning from 2000 to 2018 in Web of Science (WoS) database. ... The research findings show that in the field of ICC research, the number of published articles shows an ostensible upward trend in terms of temporal distribution since 2007; the first five highly cited countries are USA, China, Australia, Spain, and UK; International Journal of Intercultural Relations (IJIR) is found to be the most highly cited journal within the past twenty years; the first five highly cited authors are Michael Byram, Darla Deardorff, Claire Kramsch, Mitchell Hammer and Milton Bennett; Conceptualizing intercultural competence (Spitzberg & Changnon, 2009) is the most highly cited article" (Peng, et al., 2020, p. 58).

“This paper provides an assessment of Master’s degree programs and faculty research in Communication departments using citations available in Google Scholar. Identification of the Master’s degree programs relied on the National Communication Association website. Individual faculty were identified from the web page of the department for the institution. The combined number of citations to faculty publications identifies the top five departments (University of Alabama-Birmingham, California State University-Fullerton, University of Colorado-Colorado Springs, Cleveland State University, and California State University- Long Beach) and the top five most cited faculty members (Stella Ting-Toomey, Virginia Richmond, George Cheney, Kimberly Neuendorf, and Brian Spitzberg)” (Allen, et al., 2017, p. 51)

“Examining individuals, the top-rated Master’s faculty in terms of citations (Stella Ting-Toomey) would be the second most cited faculty member if she were employed at a doctoral program (only Marshall Poole at the University of Illinois-Urbana had more citations, using the Allen, et al., 2013 data from Table 3, p. 65). Examining the top five, Richmond would appear as the sixth most cited doctoral scholar, Cheney would appear as the sixth most cited scholar, as would Neuendorf and Spitzberg. Nine of the top Master’s level scholars would appear in the top 25 most cited individuals if working at doctoral degree granting institutions with doctoral degree granting institutions” (Allen, et al., 2017, p. 57)
